Union held an interesting meeting in the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Tuesday have read J. G. Maxfield, instead of J. B.

Maxfield.

A. H. Russell, of the Russell House, a Middletown, died of pneumonia last Monday. He was well known to a good many Bloomfielders.

W. S. Pierson Post, No. 58, will, with About eleven o'clock on Thursday evening a fire was given from Hayden's Mill. The fire was extinguished by the use of a donkey pump in a few minutes and no loss.

At seven and a half past three on Friday morning a fire was discovered in the barn of William Hall at Watessing. The building and most of the contents were destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Next Sunday morning, in the German Presbyterian Church, there will be held a service of prayer and thanksgiving for the ministry of their minister, John M. Ensslin, Rev. G. C. Seibert officiating.

The sidewalk on Glenwood avenue, between the depot and Linden avenue, has been an almost impassable condition for the past few weeks, on account of the mud.
The Township Committee should call the attention of the property owners to the fact.

On Wednesday night burglars operated on three houses at Glenridge, but resulted in little plunder for their trouble. Entrance was made through a window on the first floor in each case by using a jimmy under the sash to pry it open. The first house entered was Israel Dodd's, where they looted about $30 worth of goods.
Mr. Mary Benson's house was next entered, where an overcoat was the only article missing. At Mr. E. S. Wilde's house they were discovered by the family before they were able to ransack any of the goods, which were packed up having just been moved there. They escaped without detection.

—Frank Mahoney, of Montclair, died on Sunday afternoon, after a lingering illness and much suffering from cancer. He was a son of Jeremiah Mahoney, who has been track foreman of the Bloomfield branch for over thirty years. The funeral was largely attended on Wednesday morning.

—W. S. Pierson Post, No. 58, G. A. R., proposes placing headstones over the graves of soldiers in Bloomfield Cemetery, and it would facilitate their work if friends of the soldiers who are buried there would kindly send the name of company, regiment, and date of death, to John H. Cockefer. It is a worthy object and should be encouraged.

—At the annual meeting of Methodist Church Society, on Wednesday evening, the following named gentlemen were elected trustees for the ensuing year: Samuel Carl, Albert Field, William A. Francis, Thomas W. Langstroth, Joseph Cooper, Charles M. Lockwood and William Martin.
The annual report was read and accepted, showing the church to be in a flourishing condition.

—The subject of the next lecture in the Seminary course is Goethe's Faust. Dr.
Seibert will deliver the lecture in English.
When Dr. Seibert delivered his course on German literature in New York a few years ago in German he was greeted with a good audience throughout the course. Those who would like to listen to an analysis of the great German poet, and the great German divine, by a German scholar conversant with his own literature, rendered in English, will now have the opportunity.

A Serious Tail of a Coat.

About ten o'clock on Thursday morning a small group of men were standing near Mr. Sheriff's corner looking in wonderment to the top of Odd Fellows Hall. The gathering gradually grew larger until a large concourse of people had assembled. They were all wondering what that black gown was suspended at half-mast for. One man thinking it a good time for a joke remarked that the lodge was in mourning for their members who were defeated on election day. The explanation seemed a good one and the story spread rapidly, until it reached the ears of a prominent Odd Fellow, who secured a ladder and started for the building.
Finding the door locked he went to the place where the key is kept and found it missing; returning to the hall with another member the door was burst open and they ascended to the roof, where they found two workmen busy making some repairs unconscious of the sensation their handy coat-pole had caused below. Unusual energy was however displayed in lowering the alleged mourning, while the crowd below enjoyed the joke.

Rev. Mr. Riggs' Lecture.

The subject of the last Seminary lecture was rather curious of language and literature than rare and interesting books or curiosities of literature. A wide range was given to the subject. Those who supposed it was to be limited to English books found that it included a survey of Oriental manuscripts and inscriptions, Egyptian papyri, Medieval parchments, the Icelandic Edda, early printing, etc.

One of the most singular things stated, was that the Chinese classical language, while it is so unlike the provincial dialects, cannot be understood by any Chinese by the ear only. A Bible, printed in classical characters, had been understood when read from the pulpit, unless the congregation have their eyes also on the printed page.
This will please some ministers, who, when they read, like to see the Bible open in the pews.

Mr. Riggs is a pleasing speaker and shows a wide range of travel as well as of reading in his lectures.

infidel" first as a German of culture, and subsequently he called him a "big Dutchman" repeatedly.

There could be but either of two conditions under which the gentlemen spoke. The first is ignorance, and the second an attempt at ridicule by using a vulgarized term. As a theme much spoken of in the meeting was "Christian love," would not either of the named conditions be unworthy of the speaker?

As it is hardly possible for the "converted infidel" spoken of to have had both countries for his native land (Holland and Germany), we are glad to be able to say that we know this able and honorable man personally, and know him to be of German descent and German birth, and at the present time a true-hearted American citizen. We have heard him speak in Bloomfield, both at our Seminary and in our German Church. He is a clergyman of cultivated address, and unworthy of the application of a vulgar name to him. He is at present in the fatherland, where he is proclaiming the Gospel with great effect.

CENTS on the market, and smokers having a fine taste for the "Angler" are generally recognizing its EXTRAORDINARY MERIT.

No pains nor expense will be spared in keeping up the high uniform standard of "The Angler." Some dealers object to "The Angler," because they claim that they come too high to retail for a 5 cent cigar! We assure them that their IN-CREASED SALES will more than make up the difference in the profit, and that "The Angler" will prove to be the most profitable cigar they can sell.

Many smokers who have heretofore always bought 10 cent cigars are now smoking "The Angler," and have AN ACTUAL PROFIT OF 5 CENTS ON EACH CIGAR THEY SMOKE, which, on the basis of 4 cigars each day, is an annual saving of just $73.
